ICARUS

INITIATIVE FOR CLIMATE ADAPTATION RESEARCH AND UNDERSTANDING THROUGH THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

Climate Vulnerability and Adaptation: Theory and Cases

Workshop¹

10-13 February 2010
The Beckman Institute
University of Illinois, Urbana Champaign
Beckman Institute
405 North Mathews Avenue, Urbana, IL
(map)

¹ This ICARUS workshop and an upcoming ICARUS workshop this spring at the University of Michigan are sponsored by the Social Dimensions of Environmental Policy (SDEP) Initiative of the Department of Geography, School of Earth Society, and Environment and Beckman Institute at the University of Illinois and the International Forestry Resources and Institutions research initiative (IFRI) and the School of Natural Resources and Environment (SNRE) of the University of Michigan. SDEP is supported by the University of Illinois' Beckman Institute, Dean of LAS, and office of the Vice Chancellor for Research. Additional support for this SDEP event has been provided by Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies (CLACS) at the University of Illinois.
ICARUS Workshop Agenda

Wednesday, February 10

4:30-6:00  ICARUS Keynote Address and SDEP Climate and Society Public Lecture
          Speaker: Robin Mearns, Social Development Department of The World Bank
          Room 5602 Beckman
          Title: “Social Dimensions of Climate Change: From Principles to Practice at the World Bank”
          Discussants:
           Tom Bassett – Department of Geography, University of Illinois
           Wesley Jarrell - Professor of Natural Resources and Environmental Science and Director of Environmental Change Institute

6:00  Wine and Cheese Reception immediately following Mearns talk in 5th Floor Tower Room

Another Related Event at University of Illinois on Wednesday, 10 February

3:00  Talk: “Deforestation and the Future of the Amazon”
      Speaker: Daniel P. Munari of the Instituto Nacional de Pesquisas da Amazonia (INPA), Brazil.
      Venue: Lemann Institute for Brazilian Studies & Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies, 101 International Studies Building, 910 S. Fifth St. (fifteen-minute walk from hotels.)
Thursday, February 11

8:00  Doors and Registration Open
Room 5602 Beckman – All events are held at the Beckman Institute

8:30-9:00  Opening Session
Room 5602
Ben Orlove, Anthropology, University of California, Davis
Jesse Ribot, Geography, University of Illinois

- Objectives
- Structure of workshop
- Aims of Parallel Sessions
- ICARUS II/International Conference on Climate, Sustainability and Development in Semi-arid Regions (ICID)
- Introductory exercise

9:00-10:00  Keynote: Jesse Ribot: “Vulnerability does not Fall from the Sky”
Room 5602
Discussants:
Roch Mongbo, Agronomy and Socio-Anthropology, Université d'Abomey Calavi, Bénin
Ashwini Chhatre, Department of Geography, University of Illinois

10:00-10:20  Coffee Break  5th Floor Vestibule

10:20-12:30  First Parallel Panel Session: Vulnerability, Adaptation, Institutions

Vulnerability Panel I: Drivers of Vulnerability – Room 3269
Chair: Rohit Nagi, Global Studies, University of Illinois
- Kelly Hopping, University of Colorado: “Vulnerability to Snowstorms of Tibetan Pastoral Socio-ecological Systems”
- Roch L. Mongbo, Université d’Abomey-Calavi: “Climate vulnerabilities and adaptations on a water complex in Benin: a conceptual framework”
- Elizabeth Marino, University of Alaska: “Environmental migration, climate change and social theory: a study in disparity and movement”

Adaptation Panel I: Choosing Adaptation – Room 5602
Chair: Robin Mearns, The World Bank
- Kendra McSweeney, Ohio State University: “Vulnerability, Resilience, and Unexpected Adaptation: Long-term Outcomes of Hurricane Mitch in Rural Honduras”
- Olubukola Oyerinde, Federal University of Technology, Nigeria: “Analysis of the Determinants of Farmers’ Choice of Adaptation Strategies and their Perception on Climate Change in the Rainforest Zone of Nigeria”
- Denis Gautier, CIRAD: “Herders’ adaptation to a political climate change in Northern Mali”
Harry Fischer, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign: “The multiple dimensions of vulnerability: livelihoods, assets, and institutions in the Indian Himalayas”

Julia Z. McDowell, Emory University: “Economic and Climatic Adaptation in Highland Bolivia”

Netra Chhetri, Arizona State University: “Induced Innovation: A Conceptual Approach in Understanding Agricultural Adaptation to Climate Change”

Institutions Panel I: Local Institutions and Climate Adaptation – Room 4269
Chair: Brian Dill, Department of Sociology, University of Illinois

Daivi Rodima-Taylor, Boston University: “Culture and Institutional Adaptation to Vulnerability: Self-Help Institutions in Decentralizing Tanzania”

Jephine Mogoi, CGIAR: “Strong Local Institutions in Natural Resource Management for Effective Resilience against Climate Change Effects”

Felipe Murtinho, University of California Santa Barbara: “Understanding Adaptation to Climate Variability: Challenges and Opportunities of Community Based Water Management”

Siri Eriksen and Elin Selboe: University of Oslo: “The social organization of local climate adaptation in Norway”

Carol Farbotko, University of Wollongong: “Indigenous Knowledge, Migration and Adaptation in the Pacific”

12:30-1:30 Lunch – Room 5269

1:30-3:30 Second Parallel Panel Session: Vulnerability, Adaptation Institutions, Methods

Vulnerability Panel II: Climate Interventions and Forests – Room 3269
Chair: Ashwini Chhatre, Department of Geography, University of Illinois

Eric Coleman, Florida State University: “Do Common Property Rights Facilitate Local Adaptation to External Disturbance? Cross-National Evidence in Forestry”

Betsy Beymer and Tom Bassett, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign: “The REDD Menace: Increasing Vulnerability through Adaptation in Tanzania’s Mangrove Communities”

Jamie McEvoy, University of Arizona: “Technology and Adaptation: Framing Desalination in Northwestern Mexico”

Adaptation Panel II: Vulnerability, Adaptation & Policy Processes I – Room 5602
Chair: Lisa Dilling, Environmental Studies, University of Colorado

Julia Ekstrom, Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory: “A Guiding Framework for Barriers to Planned Climate Change Adaptation”

Jessica Ayers, DESTIN – London School of Economics and Political Science: “Can climate change adaptation policy be deliberative? Some lessons from Bangladesh”

Felicia Solomon, University of Nairobi: “Governance and Climate Change: A Case of Kenya”

Rebecca Witter, University of Georgia: “Engaging Human Displacement Policy-Making in the Age of Climate Action”

Caroline Upton, University of Leicester: “Adaptive Capacity and Institutional Evolution: Donor Interventions in Pastoral Societies”
Institutions Panel II: Climate and Conflict – Room 1237
Chair: Jeremy Brooks, Beckman Institute Post-Doctoral Fellow, University of Illinois
- Gillen Wood, Department of English, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign: “Tambora 1815: A Case History in Drastic Climate Change”
- Jamesy Owen, University of Colorado: “Resource Shortage, Conflict and Local Management in Arid Sub-Saharan Africa: The Cases of Sudan, Nigeria and Kenya”

Methods Panel I: Vulnerability and Adaptation Assessment – Room 4269
Chair: Andy Bruno, Department of History, University of Illinois
- Eric Anderson, CATHALAC: “Ecosystem Vulnerability to Climate Change in Panama”
- Karim-Aly Kassam, Cornell University: “Applying a Socio-Cultural and Ecological Lens to Assess the Impact of Climate Vulnerability and Adaptation in Alpine and Arctic Regions”
- Paul McLaughlin, SUNY Geneseo: “Climate Change, Vulnerability and Adaptation: Reconceptualizing Societal-Environment Interaction within a Socially Constructed Adaptive Landscape”

3:30-4:30 Coffee Break + Rapporteur Preparation for Plenary

4:30-6:00 Plenary Discussion of First and Second Sessions of Parallel Panels – Vulnerability, Adaptation institutions, and Methods Themes
Chair: Ben Orlove
Room 5602

7:30 Conference Dinner at Café Luna – Bus will leave from in front of your hotel at 7:20PM. Alternatively you can walk (about 15 minutes) to 116 North Chestnut Street, Champaign (http://www.luna-cu.com/, phone 1 217 356-5862). Friday, February 12

8:30-9:30  Keynote: Arun Agrawal: “Vulnerability Profiles and Adaptation”
Discussants:
Kendra McSweeney, Ohio State University
Jessica Ayers, London School of Economics and Political Science
Room 5602

9:30-10:00  Coffee Break – 5th Floor Vestibule

10:30-12:30  Parallel Panel Session III: Vulnerability, Adaptation, Methods

Vulnerability Panel III: Climate Vulnerability and Adaptation in Urban Areas – Room 1003
Chair: Brian Dill, Department of Sociology, University of Illinois
- Patricia Romero Lankao, UCAR: “Vulnerability to Air Pollution and Weather Across and within Latin American Cities”
- Julien Rebotier, Université du Québec: “Politicizing risk assessment on vulnerability conditions in order to improve adaptive capacity”
- Paul Coseo, University of Michigan: “Green Alleys: The design of sustainable infrastructure, its usefulness in urban heat island mitigation, and the adaptation of neighborhood landscapes in Chicago”

Adaptation Panel III: Vulnerability, Adaptation & Policy Processes II – Room 4269
Chair: Rohit Nagi, Global Studies, University of Illinois
- Lisa Dilling, University of Colorado: “‘Lessons Learned but not Applied’: Adaptation Knowledge and Policy Uptake”
- Shannon McNeeley, UCAR: “Vulnerability to Changing Seasonality: The Importance of Sensitivity and Social Significance in Climate Change Vulnerability Analysis”
- Barbara Deutsch Lynch, Georgia Institute of Technology: “The Dublin Principles, Watershed Governance and Vulnerability to Climate Change in Highland Peru”
- Ian MacAuslan, Oxford Policy Management: “Addressing Vulnerability with Cash Transfers in Drought-prone Areas: How Should Such Programmes be Designed?”
- Derek Kauneckis, University of Nevada, Reno: “A Local Government Perspective on Climate Change Adaptability”
- Mette Olwig, University of Copenhagen: “From Concepts to Practice: ‘Vulnerability’ and ‘Adaptation’ in Northern Ghana”

Methods Panel II: Social Ecological Systems and Resilience – Room 1237
Chair: Jeremy Brooks, Beckman Institute Post-Doctoral Fellow, University of Illinois
- Maria DiGiano, University of Florida: “Predicting the Fate of Community Forestry in the Face of Disaster: Reorganization and Resilience within Forest Communities in Southeastern Mexico”
Conrad Murendo, ICRISAT: “Drought Risk Impacts and Management in Developing Countries: Smallholder Farmers are not ‘Dump economic agents’”

Jennifer Howk, Harvard University: “States of Nature: Climate Change and the Politics of Permanent Crisis in Four Alaskan Communities”

Joseeph Foti, World Resources Institute, Washington, DC: “Rapid Institutional Analysis for Adaptation”

12:30-1:30  Lunch – Room 5269

1:30-2:30  Plenary Discussion of Third Session of Parallel Panels. Organize breakout groups and choose evening synthesis tasks for Saturday morning synthesis (breakout groups can choose to go to dinner together). Room 5602

2:30-4:00  Working Groups

4:00-4:30  Coffee Break – 5th Floor Vestibule

4:30-6:00  ICARUS Keynote Address and SDEP Climate and Society Lecture
   Speaker: Maria Carmen Lemos, Natural Resources and Environment, University of Michigan
   Room 5602
   Title: "Can Science Save North East Brazil? Building Adaptive Capacity to Climatic Change in Ceara"
   Discussants:
      Arun Agrawal — Society, Natural Resources and Environment, University of Michigan
      Ben Orlove — Anthropology, University of California at Davis

6:00-7:00  Reception for Maria Carmen Lemos immediately following talk in 5th floor Tower Room

Evening  NO PLANNED DINNER—Check conference packet for restaurant suggestions.
Saturday, February 13

8:30-9:00  Opening – Review of goals
Chair: Maria Carmen Lemos
Room 5602

9:00-10:30  Plenary: Statements from Working Groups
Chair: Tom Bassett, Department of Geography, University of Illinois.
Each working group will have ten minutes to present and five minutes of discussion. This will be followed by an open discussion of 1) interesting insights, 2) significant gaps, and
3) future directions.

10:30-11:00  Coffee Break  5th Floor Vestibule

11:00-12:30  Working Groups reunite to develop synthesis statements

12:30-12:45  Box lunch distributed – take to final plenary

12:45-2:00  Final Plenary
Chairs: Agrawal, Lemos, Orlove, Ribot
Working Group final statements
